

Agreement to reassess a determination of redress

Use this form to agree to a reassessment of your finalised application.

What is a reassessment?

Your application for redress can be reassessed when:

- you have received and accepted or declined an offer of redress, and
- at the time you accepted or declined your offer, one or more institution/s identified as part of your application's assessment were not in the Scheme, and
- the identified institution/s have since joined the Scheme.

The reassessment of your application will start when this completed form is received by the Scheme. If you cannot sign the form, please call us on 1800 737 377. If you later change your mind and want to withdraw your agreement to the reassessment, you can call us or write to us, using the Scheme's 'Withdraw agreement for reassessment form' available from nationalredress.gov.au.

After the reassessment decision is made, we will contact you with the outcome. You can choose to accept, review or decline your reassessed offer of redress. A reassessed redress payment offer cannot be less than what you previously accepted, however there is no guarantee it will be more.

If you accept the reassessed offer, it will replace your previous accepted offer. If you decline the reassessed offer, your earlier redress outcome will remain in place. If you ask for a review, you will not be able to provide additional information for the review of a reassessed determination.
